The neat background makes it more possible to focus on the content rather than on the design. Effectively promote a persons's working experience with this template. Make it yours today.5 Steps to Make an Experience CertificateStep 1: Write down key informationAn effective experience certificate doesnt just contain a name and two signatures at the bottom. Some basic key information includes name of award, awardees name, the award giving body, date and place where it was given, and authentic signatures of those in authority or from the administration.Step 2: Choose a theme for the certificateThe central theme of the certificate will focus on what type of job or activity was done or taken. The font types, graphics, and overall layout of the certificate will also revolve around this theme. Make sure that the graphics and the vectors you will use are relevant to the activity.Step 3: Edit your template's texts and designsThe difference between starting on a blank canvass and using a template is that with templates, the content and designs are pre-formatted. If working on the latter one, make sure to observe visual hierarchy in arranging the texts, and choose a font type that is legible. With the designs, choose one that is relevant to the theme, and make sure that the graphics are royalty free or stock photos.Step 4: Keep it simple and shortWhen working with certificates, the rule is to always keep it short and simple. By keeping it short, means not to put unnecessary information in the template. The design should also be kept relevant, simple, and professional, remember that it is a certificate. Dont get sidetracked and end up overworking on the design.Step 5: Print your experience certificate templateAfter working on the layout of your experience certificate, show your template to a friend for feedback. Make some necessary adjustments if there are any. Do a print preview of your final output and print a mock up before printing multiple copies. Print your template on special types of paper such as scented ones, as long as its thick stock.12.
